

The compact design of the ECHOGRAPH 1094 facilitates mobile material testing with the aid of multiple channels. Mounted on a trolley equipped with probes the instrument, for instance, is qualified for testing on sheet metal (see photo) or rails.

Then the power supply comes from an external DC power source, e.g. a car battery.

